Clinical and histological presentation of cicatricial alopecia in humans and animal models

Moderators: Leonard Spratt, M.D. and Allen Bergfeld, M.D.
8:10 - 8:30 a.m. Cicatricial alopecia in humans.
Vera H. Price, M.D., FRCP
8:30 - 8:50 a.m. Histo-pathology of cicatricial alopecia, John T. Headington, M.D.
8:50 - 9:10 a.m. Cicatricial alopecia in animals, John Sundberg, D.V.M.
9:30 - 9:40 a.m. Discussion

Pilosebaceous apparatus growth and structure

Moderator: Victoria Holloway, M.D. and Michael Philpot, Ph.D.
9:40 - 10:00 a.m. Stem cells and controls of hair follicle growth, George Cotzarelis, M.D., Ph.D.
10:00 - 10:20 a.m. Structural proteins of the hair follicle, Jurgen Schweizer, M.D.
10:20 - 10:40 a.m. Sebaceous glands, Christos Zouboulis, M.D.
10:40 - 11:00 a.m. Discussion
11:10 - 12:30 p.m. Break for lunch or networking

Program Overview

The broad aim of the colloquium is to stimulate research in the field of cicatricial alopecia. As part of the meeting, both clinical and basic science aspects of cicatricial alopecia will be addressed, with an emphasis on basic science and mechanisms of disease. This meeting will provide a unique opportunity to better understand the molecular events underlying pathogenic states in the hair follicle and to stimulate future research that will lead to better treatments.

Learning Objectives

Participants will be able to:
1. Discuss the latest advances in hair biology, both structural and physiologic.
2. Identify possible mechanisms leading to hair follicle destruction in cicatricial alopecia.
3. Contribute to and plan for collaborative research projects.

Target Audience

Scientists and clinicians interested in hair biology.

Faculty Disclosure

Current guidelines require that participants in CME activities be made aware of any relevant financial relationships between speakers and commercial entities, discussion of off-label uses of medications and/or devices, and any limitations in data cited. This information has been requested from speakers and will be incorporated into the syllabus distributed during the activity.
